

Tuesday 12th May

Lots of people went outside their houses to sing a song from the war 'We'll meet again' Can you find out who sang that song. My son Isaac used to dance with my Auntie Win to this song when he was younger!

look at the power point, lots of people held street parties. In your blue books can you write an invitation to a street party. You will need to include who you want to invite, where it will be, the day and the time. You would then decorate your invitation, maybe red, white and blue would be good colours.

Maths

This is a fun game to play. I really enjoyed playing it first. If you can't download this game then you could make up your own. Find 10 objects ask your grown up how many to take away, ask them how many they think will be left, take the number away that they say and then count how many are left. If your grown up was right then they get a point. Swap over and see who gets to 10 points first.
