

Aspire

Hello Year 2,

I have started to re-read Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone, it was published on the 26th June 1997, nearly 23 years ago and has sold 120 million copies around the world! The author, J.K Rowling, was rejected by 12 publishers (people that print books), before anyone would print it. She didn't give up, she continued to show our school value of ASPIRE.

Maths

Today is sorting shapes, you will need to remember to count sides/vertices/faces carefully. If you want to have a go at page one - sorting 2D shapes and page 3 - sorting 3D shapes that would be great. You will need to use your ruler for any drawing activities today.

English

We are going to continue with diary writing today, some books are written like a diary, can you think of any that you have read?

Today I would like you to write about what you did yesterday, remember to use the checklist below. I would also like you to add information about how you felt when you did something, look at my example below. You could also add pictures like Jeff Kinney does when he writes about Greg Heffley.

Here is your checklist

1. First person
2. Past tense
3. Use adjectives

Here is my starting sentence to help you.

Wednesday 17th June 2020

Dear Diary,

Yesterday I did all my school work and this made me feel proud because it was tricky.
