

Tuesday 19th May

It's getting warmer and warmer this week. Like I said yesterday you need to make sure you are drinking enough water and also putting sun-cream on when you are playing outside – we do not want you getting sunburnt. I look forward to hearing what you have been up to and whether you have been lucky enough to have an ice-lolly!

English

Today we are learning about fact and opinion. You will be able to tell the difference between them and when we can use these in our writing. Maybe you can share some of your opinions with me when I call you this week. Follow the link below to find the BBC bitesize page.

Maths

Today we are learning about division and multiplication by 4 and 8.

Remember once you have learnt your four times-table you can just double it for the 8 x table. Follow the link below for the teaching video and the worksheet was sent with this email.

Other activities

- Play TTRS
- Read outside and then redesign the book cover
- Collect items in your house or garden that begin with the letter L – can you find 5?

Take care
